

Abstract

A method and system for providing radio, TV audio, and other broadcasts over a telephone. The preferred method allows a listener to telephonically access an automated system capable of connecting to a plurality of broadcasting stations, 5 permits the listener to select a desired station, and transmits broadcast of the desired station via the telephone.

10569514v1